

Tony Fusco

Firm Partner/Attorney

Tony was born in Oxford, England while his father was stationed there as an officer in the Air Force, and grew up in Venice, Florida. Tony is a proud Eagle Scout.

While obtaining his undergraduate degree at Florida State University, Tony was heavily involved in assisting those in need. He worked for various non-profits and causes, eventually directing a student run group that raised money, supplies and awareness for Haiti Relief after the 2010 Haitian earthquake. In recognition of his dedication to others and to the university, Tony was selected as a member of The Florida State University Homecoming Court his graduating year. He attended The Florida State University College of Law where he was a member of Business Review Journal and the President of the College Trial Team, competing in litigation competitions against top law schools across the nation. He currently coaches trial teams for FSU College of Law.

Tony clerked at Fasig | Brooks during law school and joined the firm as an attorney upon graduation in 2014. Tony is currently an Firm Partner.

Education

- B.S. Business Management and Political Science – Florida State University (cum laude), 2010
- J.D. – Florida State University College of Law, 2014

Organizations

- The Florida Bar
- Florida Justice Association
- American Association for Justice

Volunteer

- Assistant U-15 Coach, Associated Soccer Group
- Volunteer, Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church Youth Group
- Former Director, Noles for Haiti

Areas of Practice

- Car Accidents
- Motorcycle Accidents
- Slip and Fall
- Impaired Driving Accidents
- Product Liability
- Spinal Injury

- Child and Adolescent Injuries